Holland Taylor stars in “The Chair,” which begins streaming Friday on Netflix.

‘The Chair’ – Woman takes on problematic department in Netflix Canada comedy
A college department head is up to her ears in problems in Netflix Canada’s ‘The Chair’

Professor Ji-Yoon Kim may represent a first at her university but she might be the last person who’d want to take on this mess.

As played by Sandra Oh (“Killing Eve,” “Grey’s Anatomy”) in the Netflix Canada half-hour comedy “The Chair,” which begins streaming Friday, Aug. 20, she’s the first woman chair of the English department at Pembroke University as well as one of the few staff members of color at the prestigious Massachusetts institution.

Though its stately buildings and finely manicured campus suggest wealth, the university is in fact hemorrhaging money and Dean Larson (David Morse, “Outsiders”) instructs his department heads to find the dead wood among the faculty and push them toward the door.

Translation: Pick out the old-timers with high salaries and low enrollments and make them want to retire.

Which puts two profs squarely in Ji-Yoon’s crosshairs – Elliot Rentz (Bob Balaban) and Joan Hambling (Holland Taylor, “Two and a Half Men”) – both of whom are painfully aware of the budget cuts and the fact that their advanced age makes them a target.

For Taylor, the script by Amanda Peet (an actress who steps behind the camera as creator, executive producer and showrunner here) and the opportunity to play a character her own age were big drawing cards.

“(This is a woman) who has no f...s left to give,” the 78-year-old Taylor explains. “She’s sort of, as Amanda Peet ... said to me when we began, ‘This character is unedited at this point in her life.’ And that really appealed to me because I would say that I was brought up with a lot of manners and a lot of awareness of others and I definitely have an editor that controls how I behave very, very well. And I can sort of see that loosening as I get older.”

There are other issues making Ji-Yoon’s life interesting. Bill Dobson (Jay Duplass, “Transparent”), a popular instructor, suffers a series of embarrassing episodes as he struggles with his wife’s tragic death during childbirth; Yasmin McKay (Nana Mensah, “New Amsterdam”), a younger professor, agitates for change and advancement in the department; and young daughter Ju Ju (Evelry Carganilla, “Yes Day”) acts out, much to the dismay of her single mom.

Meanwhile, Joan deals with the prospect that her longtime friend might also turn out to be her executioner, professionally speaking.

“This is a mentor/mentee relationship,” Taylor notes, “and when the mentee has excelled and climbed the mountain and done very well, it’s very exciting for the older person who has been her friend and advising her. And even though Joan is being pushed aside by (Ji-Yoon’s) generation, Joan would not see (Ji-Yoon) as a personal threat at all until she does feel that she’s been let down by her, which is very crushing. So it’s a very, very human story.”

NASCAR’s Cup Series has a fairly long and storied history at Indianapolis Motor Speedway, one that dates back to 1994 with the inaugural Brickyard 400. Now that race comes off the main track and onto its road course for the first time with the Verizon 200 at the Brickyard.

Airing Sunday, Aug. 15, on NBC, the race is run over 82 laps on the 2.439-mile, 14-turn course where the likes of Chase Elliott, Ryan Blaney, Kyle Busch, Martin Truex Jr. and Chase Briscoe hope to continue their success on road courses.

Briscoe is a particularly intriguing case. A rookie to the Cup in 2021, the 26-year-old Indiana native had a strong record on road courses during his 2018-20 stint in the Xfinity Series, posting seven top-10 finishes in nine starts, including wins at Charlotte in 2018 and Indy last year.

But so far in 2021, that success hasn’t translated to the Cup, where he’s managed two sixth place finishes (at Circuit of the Americas in Texas and Road America in Wisconsin) to go along with a 17th at Sonoma and a 32nd at Daytona. Not embarrassing showings for the most part but certainly not what he had hoped for coming into the season.

Still, he has the experience of the Indy road course and that 2020 victory under his belt, which will certainly work to his advantage on Sunday. Should he win, he’d be the first Cup rookie to take the checkered flag in a road course race since Juan Pablo Montoya at Sonoma in 2007.

And thus make more Cup history at the fabled Brickyard.

SATURDAY Prime Time

TODAY'S PICKS

Matchmaker Mysteries

6 p.m. on WCOO; 8 p.m. on CAJ; 11 p.m. on WCCO

Danica McKellar returns as professional matchmaker and sleuth (who is totally a thing) Angie Dodge in "A Fatal Romance," which opens with Angie at a romance novelist's convention, where a bestselling author (guest star Anne Marie DeLuise) drops dead on stage, poisoned. To Angie's shock, the chief suspect in the murder is Ethan Plume (guest star Dan Payne), an old college boyfriend who now runs a publishing house and has a tense relationship with the deceased. Victor Webster and Bruce Boxleiter also star in this 2020 tale.

The Short History of the Long Road

7:20 p.m. on WCCO

Sabrina Carpenter ("Girl Meets World") won cheers for her complex performance in writer-director Ani Simon-Kennedy's 2019 drama, which had its premiere at the prestigious Tribeca Film Festival. The actress stars as Nola, a free-spirited teenager who has fallen in love with the open road while crisscrossing the United States with her father (Steven Ogg) in their battered but beloved RV, taking odd jobs to support themselves. A shocking development, however, threatens to end their journey out on her own. Danny Teo, Maggie Siff and Rusty Schwimmer also are featured.

A Perfect Match

9 p.m. on WCCO

When tightly wound software designer Zoe Williams (Emily Alatalo) has to prove to an important investor that her company's new dating app really works as promised, she decides to test it on herself. Much to her dismay, however, the app soon pairs her with a guy who appears to be her polar opposite in nearly every respect: Oliver Dawson (Chad Connell), a laid-back artist who loves being spontaneous, Nathalie Lisinska, Sonia Tully and Joseph Cannata also star in this 2021 romantic comedy.

Nomandad

9 p.m. on WCCO

Frances McDormand won her third Academy Award as best actress for writer-director Chloé Zhao's 2020 drama, one of the most universally acclaimed films of its release year. McDormand stars as Fern, whose world is rocked when her husband dies and the factory where they worked for years closes down. She decides to sell most her belongings and buy a van, hitting the road in search of any jobs she might find. David Strathairn and Linda May co-star in the film, which also earned Oscars for best picture and best director.
“The Defeated”
From Europe comes this period thriller series that casts Taylor Kitsch (“Friday Night Lights”) in the role of Max McLaughlin, an American cop who arrives in Berlin in 1946 to start a police force in the wake of the war and search for his presumed-dead brother. Michael Hall, Logan Marshall Green and Tuppence Middleton are also in the solid cast. (ORIGINAL)

“Memories of a Murderer: The Nilsen Tapes”
From 1978 to 1983, Scottish serial killer Dennis Nilsen prowled the streets of London, preying on young men and boys. This documentary from director Michael Harte sheds new light on the case thanks to personal archives and over 250 hours of never-before-published cassette tapes of his private recordings found in his cell after his death in 2018. (ORIGINAL)

“Movie: Sweet Girl”
Jason Momoa ("Aquaman") stars in this thriller movie as a devastated husband who vows to bring justice to the people he holds responsible for his wife's death while also protecting the only family he has left, his daughter. Isabela Merced, Justin Bartha, Amy Brenneman and Manuel Garcia-Rulfo also star for Brian Andrew Mendoza in his feature film directorial debut. (ORIGINAL)

“The Chair”
Sandra Oh (“Killing Eve,” “Grey’s Anatomy”) is an executive producer and star of this drama series about the newly installed chair of a prestigious university’s English department and the unique challenges she faces as the first woman in that position. Jay Duplass, Holland Taylor and Bob Balaban also star in the series, for which Amanda Peet served as writer, executive producer and showrunner. (ORIGINAL)

BEST KATHARINE HEPBURN MOVIES

“Morning Glory” (1933) Hepburn earned her first of several Oscars as an aspiring actress who attracts three men who could boost her career ... but not necessarily for the right reasons.

“Little Women” (1933) While the Louisa May Alcott story has gotten screen treatment a number of times, this early version with Hepburn has endured for the better part of a century.

“Bringing Up Baby” (1938) In one of the movies that define “screwball comedy,” Hepburn plays a dotty heiress who makes life complicated - as does her pet leopard, the film’s “Baby” - for a paleontologist (Cary Grant). The George Cukor-directed treat is included in Turner Classic Movies’ “Summer Under the Stars” Hepburn tribute day Saturday, Aug. 21.

“The Philadelphia Story” (1940) Hepburn is terrific as a socialite whose imminent remarriage isn’t favored by her previous husband (Cary Grant) nor a reporter (James Stewart).

“Woman of the Year” (1942) In the first of their legendary pairings, Hepburn and Spencer Tracy play newspaper colleagues whose marriage is threatened by the wife’s seemingly endless ambition.

“Adam’s Rib” (1949) One of the very best of the Hepburn-Tracy pairings, with the pair playing lawyers on opposing sides of the same case.

“Summer Under the Stars” Hepburn tribute day Saturday, Aug. 21.

“Suddenly, Last Summer” (1959) Tennessee Williams’ play features Hepburn as a wealthy woman who wants what her niece (Elizabeth Taylor) knows kept secret, even if it takes a lobotomy.

“Long Day’s Journey Into Night” (1962) Hepburn is superb as the matriarch of the troubled Thorne family in Sidney Lumet’s film of the Eugene O’Neill play.

“Guess Who’s Coming to Dinner” (1967) The subject of interracial relationships is handled by director Stanley Kramer in the final teaming of Hepburn and Spencer Tracy, playing the parents of a young woman (Katherine Houghton, Hepburn’s real-life niece) who intends to marry a doctor (Sidney Poitier).

“The Lion in Winter” (1968) A third Academy Award came Hepburn’s way – in a year in which she tied with “Funny Girl’s” Barbra Streisand – for her depiction of Eleanor of Aquitaine’s stormy marriage to King Henry II (Peter O’Toole).

“On Golden Pond” (1981) Oscar winners both for this drama, Hepburn and Henry Fonda are perfect as a couple having a summer reunion with their estranged daughter (Fonda’s daughter, co-star Jane, who also produced the film).
“Movie: Fatman”
Mel Gibson makes a most unlikely Saint in this 2020 action comedy about the erstwhile gift giver who’s forced into partnership with the military when his business declines. At the same time, he becomes the target of a hitman hired by a 12-year-old boy who received a lump of coal for Christmas. Walton Goggins and Marianne Jean-Baptiste also star.

“Movie: Malik”
Director Mahesh Narayan’s (“Take Off,” “C U Soon”) sprawling epic casts Fahadh Faasil (“Bangalore Days”) as Suleimana, a young man whose fight against political and police corruption in his village attracts the right and wrong kinds of attention. Dileesh Pothen, Nimisha Sajayan and Joju George are also in the cast. (ORIGINAL)

“Movie: Jodi”
From India comes this 2020 romance movie about a man who falls in love with a woman with ideals but the couple is forced apart by her father’s addiction to gambling. Aadi Saikumar, Shraddha Srinath and Vennela Kishore head the cast for first-time feature filmmaker Vishwanath Arigela.

“Movie: My Super Ex-Girlfriend”
Think twice before dumping someone who has superpowers. That’s the lesson learned by the fellow (Luke Wilson) at the heart of this 2006 comedy. Uma Thurman plays the woman in question — a supposed bookworm who turns out to be powerful G-Girl. As with many a jilted lady, hell hath no fury, which doesn’t bode well for her ex and his new love (Anna Faris).

“Movie: The Empty Man”
Originally filmed in 2017, this supernatural horror film sat on the shelf for a couple of years before getting a limited 2020 theatrical release. The surreal chiller stars James Badge Dale as a cop on the trail of a missing girl when he stumbles upon a cult trying to raise a malevolent entity. Owen Teague and Marin Ireland are also in the cast.

“Movie: At Eternity’s Gate”
Willem Dafoe received multiple accolades for his finely detailed portrayal of painter Vincent Van Gogh in director Julian Schnabel’s dazzling 2018 biopic, which chronicles the final years in the life of the troubled artist. Schnabel also co-wrote the screenplay, which posits the controversial theory that Van Gogh’s death was not a suicide. Rupert Friend, Mads Mikkelsen, Mathieu Amalric and Emmanuelle Seigner also star.

“Movie: Sea Fever”
Irish filmmaker Neasa Hardiman (“An Gaeilgeoir Nocht”) wrote and directed this 2019 horror tale about the crew of an Irish trawler, marooned at sea and struggling to survive against a growing parasite in their water supply. Connie Nielsen, Hermione Corfield, Dougray Scott and Olwen Fouere head the cast.

“Movie: Megamind”
What happens after a villain succeeds in eliminating the hero who’s long been pursuing him? That’s the question faced by the title bad guy (voice of Will Ferrell) in this sly animated fantasy. After getting rid of his pursuer (voice of Brad Pitt), Megamind needs a new purpose and has to chart a different course for himself; Tina Fey also is in the vocal cast.

“Labyrinth”
Muppet master Jim Henson delved into moviemaking only a relatively few times, but the films he helped create have had staying power among a dedicated following ... and this is one of those pictures. Making its debut in the 4K Ultra HD format to mark its 35th anniversary, the Henson-directed fantasy gave an early role to later Oscar winner (for “A Beautiful Mind”) Jennifer Connelly as a teen who doesn’t realize how literally her wish for her infant brother to vanish will be taken. The Goblin King, played by music icon David Bowie, makes that happen ... with only 13 hours for the girl to make her way through the titular labyrinth and recover her sibling, or lose him forever. While deleted and alternate scenes are included, devotees might take particular interest in the screen tests by others who went after Connelly’s eventual role, including Molly Ringwald and Tracey Gold. A Blu-ray disc of the movie also is included.  (PG: AS, P, V)

“THE WATER MAN”
The excellent actor David Oyelowo (“Selma”) makes his directing debut with this drama, a somewhat mystical tale in which he’s also a cast member. The tale is sparked by a youngster’s (Lonnie Chavis, “This Is Us”) pursuit of a legendary individual known as the Water Man, who reputedly has the key to immortality that could save the youth’s ailing mother (Rosario Dawson). A young peer (Amiah Miller) helps in the search, which turns dangerous as it takes the duo ever deeper into a remote forest. Alfred Molina, Maria Bello and Oyelowo’s wife Jessica also appear in the picture, which counts Oprah Winfrey among its executive producers. DVD extras: two “making-of” documentaries; audio commentary by filmmaker; Toronto International Film Festival Q&A session.  (PG: AS, P) (Also on Blu-ray)

A Life Well Lived

From time to time our lives are impacted by others. Sometimes, those relationships are profound. Men and women, girls and boys of strong character and uniquely wise enter our lives and enrich them. When they pass from this world, often unheralded, we are bereaved. But we are secure in the knowledge that we have known a special person.

We invite our readers to celebrate those lives by sharing their stories. Put into words your assessment and admiration of someone whose everyday life touched yours and others’ in meaningful ways.

We want to publish the stories of these extraordinary people. We want to place on the public record the nature of lives well lived in Thunder Bay and Northwestern Ontario.

To submit A Life Well Lived please email: live58lived@chroniclejournal.com

The Celebrity Dating Game

7 p.m. on (70). 10 p.m. on (3), (7), (72), (73), (74)

In the season finale, former “Blossom” teen star Joey Lawrence shares that he enjoys going dancing on a first date, and asks his contestants what their own first date would involve. Later, “blackbird” cast member Marcus Scribner challenges contestants to a bit of improv, pretending they’re on a reality TV show and acting out a confession about how their date-in-process is going. Co-host Michael Bolton performs “How Can We Be Lovers” and “Time, Love and Tenderness.” Zosé Deschanel also co-hosts. (HDTV)

Bachelor in Paradise

8 p.m. on (70). (80)

Probably because a new season of this popular “Bachelor” spinoff last aired in summer 2019, Season 7 — which is set at a resort in Mexico — already has attracted even more attention than usual, as well as attendant spoilers. Early reports suggest that as many as 32 contestants will appear in this season. Among the featured couples are said to be Noah Erb and Abigail Heringer, Brendan Morais and Natasha Parker, Tammie Ly and Thomas Jacobs, Demi Burnett and Kenny Braasch, and Ivan Hall and Jessenia Cruz. (HDTV)

Homestead Rescue

7 p.m., 1 a.m. on (70)

Misty and Matt find themselves alone on a truly critical rescue of some Alaskan homesteaders who have fallen ill from dirty water and are stuck in a crumbling cabin in the new episode “Stuck in the Mud.” It’s a hands-on-deck time as the Rangers call in family reinforcements to bring some vitally needed ingenuity to save the day, with lives possibly relying on their success.

The Republic of Sarah

9 p.m. on (2063); 10 p.m. on (80)

When unseasonably warm weather quickly melts the snow from the recent blizzard, Greylock faces the threat of massive flooding in the new episode “From Simple Sources.” Realizing the community could be completely underwater in a matter of hours, Sarah (Stella Baker) is forced to ask for help from Paul (guest star Xander Berkeley), the last person she wants to rely on. Meanwhile, Bella and Tyler (Landy Bender, Forrest Goodluck) take a big step in their relationship, and Grover’s (Ian Dunn) therapist urges him to embrace what makes him happy. (HDTV)

OF ‘FANTASY ISLAND’ ON FOX

You’re getting to work a lot in your native Puerto Rico this year, between starring in “Fantasy Island” and directing your first movie, “Diario: Mujer y Cafe.” How are you finding that?

“Fantasy Island” is such a big production and such a big deal for the film industry in Puerto Rico. I was going to be here anyway for almost two months for the feature, then this (series) came along out of nowhere. A lot of the crew that I wanted for my movie—because I’ve worked with them before and I know them so well—were not available, and I was like, “Freaking ‘Fantasy Island!'”

And then, literally two weeks before I came here to start pre-production on my movie, I got the (“Fantasy Island”) offer. I had no idea it was going to come my way, so I pushed my movie for a couple of months, and I’ll be in Puerto Rico for a while. My kids never get to spend time with my mom and my dad, because we’re in Los Angeles and they’re here, so it’s wonderful to see the whole family together.

One of your earliest credits was the “Fame” spinoff series “Fame L.A.,” in which singing and dancing were vital elements as well as acting. Do you feel doing that show has lasting significance to your career?

It was such a dream. In Puerto Rico, I grew up as a dancer; I was part of the number-one ballet company, and that was my main thing as a performer. Then, I was on the top live comedy show in Puerto Rico, and three years later, I decided to move to New York to do musical theater.

All I wanted to do was Broadway, and one thing led to the next, and “Fame L.A.” took me to Los Angeles. To be able to sing and dance and act was the closest thing to doing Broadway for me, and I enjoyed that show so much. I was able to do everything that I loved.

Nicole Mary Kidman was born on June 20, 1967, in Honolulu, Hawaii. Her parents were studying on American visas at the time, but they moved her and her younger sister back to Sydney, Australia when she was four. She began taking ballet classes at a young age, but seeing “The Wizard of Oz” convinced her to aim for a career in acting instead.

Kidman and longtime friend Naomi Watts studied together at a Sydney theater while they were high school classmates, and Kidman also attended the Australian Theatre for Young People. Her first movie was a remake of “Bush Christmas,” and she then landed a role on the series “File Mile Creek,” but helping her mother through a bout with breast cancer prompted her to put her career on hold.

Named best supporting actress by the Australian Film Institute for “Emerald City,” Kidman next got a big international break in the thriller “Dead Calm.” Her next stop was the Australian miniseries “Bangkok Hilton,” then her personal and professional lives took major turns when she starred opposite Tom Cruise in “Days of Thunder.”

Films of the 1990s for Kidman included “Flirting,” “Billy Bathgate,” “Far and Away” (she was fellow star Tom Cruise’s wife by that point), “Malice,” “My Life” “Batman Forever,” “The Portrait of a Lady,” “The Peacemaker” and Stanley Kubrick’s “Eyes Wide Shut” (also with then-husband Cruise).

Kidman started the 2000s with a major hit in “The Others,” then earned an Oscar as Virginia Woolf in “The Hours.” “The Human Stain,” “Cold Mountain,” “Moulin Rouge!,” “Happy Feet” (in voice only), “Grace of Monaco,” “Secret in Their Eyes” and “Lion” were among projects that followed for her.

After recent work for HBO with “Big Little Lies” and “The Undoing,” Kidman goes the streaming-series route with “Nine Perfect Strangers,” which Hulu debuts Wednesday, Aug. 18.

Out of Africa

- Jamie Foxx
  - Out of Africa
  - 8 p.m. on (CC)
  - Showtime in Africa and wrote about it so beautifully — under the pen name Isak Dinesen — that filmmaker Sydney Pollack crafted this lush, romanticized biography of Danish author Karen Blixen (Meryl Streep) and her 17 years on a Kenyan plantation. Robert Redford stars as her love interest, Denys Finch-Hatton. The 1985 drama won seven Oscars, including best picture, best director and best original score.

  - Turn to Josiah (guest star Marco Compte) for some urgently needed answers about Jess (Brooke Markham) in the new episode "Pretty in Pink." Elsewhere, Gene (Matt Murray) decides to take a risk and makes a bold move. Keston John also stars. (HDTV)

Beat Shazzam

- 9:01 p.m. on (38), (39)
  - Two-person teams comprising a mother and daughter, or a pair of middle-school teachers and an aunt and nephew battle their way to a surprising final elimination and an even more unbelievable endgame in a new episode that promises a lot with its title. Our Most Shooking Show Ever! Jamie Foxx hosts the proceedings, in which the players test their musical knowledge against a song-identification app. (HDTV)

I Survived a Serial Killer

- 9:30 p.m., 1:33 a.m. on (38)
  - This new half-hour docuseries chronicles the heroic yet harrowing personal stories of rare individuals who were lucky — or resourceful — enough to survive a close encounter with a mass murderer. Each episode also includes interviews with those closest to these cases that involve such infamous killers as Andrew Urdiales, Real Sebasunia (The Craigslist Killer), Angel Rendopez (The Railway Killer) and David Parker Ray (The Box Killer).

My Feet Are Killing Me

- 10 p.m., 2 a.m. on (38)
  - In a new episode called "Witch’s Toe," Dr. Ebonie and Dr. Brad really have their hands full as they attempt to treat a woman with fluid dripping out of her foot. Meanwhile, a male patient born with seven toes on each foot presents a unique medical challenge, and a barber that dressed a steel door on his big toe for 20 years ago has a nail that is — somewhat understandable — completely deformed.
Whatever she does – whether co-anchoring “Good Morning America,” guest-hosting “Jeopardy!” or producing a cable movie about gospel-music icon Mahalia Jackson – Robin Roberts wants to shine a light.

“At the end of the day, it’s storytelling,” the warm, much-honored ABC weekday presence reasons, noting “Good Morning America” is “letting me fly.” Her recent stories have included a profile of women’s-basketball legend Lusia Harris (“my first childhood hero”) and a follow-up interview with Judge Esther Salas, whose son was killed and husband shot in an assault at their home last summer.

“People can tell when it’s one of those stories, because I get that response from them,” Roberts notes. “I’m so eager to share that story with other people. I cannot express my gratitude enough that I’ve hung around long enough that I’m able to do that.”

Roberts’ talk show “Turning the Tables With Robin Roberts” now streams on Disney+, and she has produced documentaries this year about the Tuskegee Airmen (who included her father) and WNBA star turned criminal-justice-reform activist Maya Moore.

“I also have a project with TLC about transplants,” Roberts adds. “It always has to be something that resonates with me. Having a conversation with other women like on ‘Turning the Tables,’ or having so much respect for Maya Moore for how she has been able to use her platform for a greater good, or that I went through a transplant that saved my life (reinforcing Roberts’ support of the Be the Match initiative) ... I’m just so grateful to be able to have these different opportunities to let the light inside me shine brighter than the light that’s on me.”

Birthdate: Nov. 23, 1960

Birthplace: Tuskegee, Ala.

Current residence: New York

Marital status: Single, but in a long-term relationship

Other television credits include: “Jeopardy!,” “The ESPYS,” “20/20,” “The Year,” “The Rookie,” “For the People,” “Empire,” “Doc McStuffins” (voice only), “Nashville,” “Last Man Standing,” “SportsCenter"

Movie credits include: “The Lego Ninjago Movie” (voice only), “Pitch Perfect 2”

On the subjects she chooses to highlight in her reports: “I don’t want to call them ‘passion projects,’ because when you say something like that, it suggests that maybe it’s something that only I’m passionate about. It’s about finding a creative way to present these people who have been important in your life. You want to put them in the spotlight.”

Favorite movie: “Currently, it’s ‘In the Heights.’ I was ugly-crying five minutes in. But my favorite movie of all time is ‘Doctor Zhivago.’ ”

Favorite television series you’re not on: “‘The King of Queens.’ My partner Amber is like, ‘Are we watching this again?’ It just brings me joy.”

Favorite singer: “Whitney Houston is the one who comes immediately to mind ... along with Dolly Parton. That gets my country-music background in there as well.”

OF TURNER CLASSIC MOVIES

While some screen legends have been featured in it before, do you like that this year’s “Summer Under the Stars” festival includes all-day tributes to certain performers for the first time?

One that I get to present, which is great fun, is Maurice Chevalier (on Aug. 24). Talk about a long career! He started in the early 1920s and was someone who began in silent films, but he wasn’t made for that medium. He was a singer, and you needed to hear that accent and great voice he had.

He broke out in the late 1920s with films like “The Love Parade,” and (director Ernst) Lubitsch was able to work with him really well. “The Smiling Lieutenant” was another of the four films they did together, then we go way ahead in time and jump over to “Fanny,” which was after he made a comeback with “Gigi.” And when you look at “Gigi,” you can see how it’s a throwback to when he was this charming, debonair, cheeky fellow who always had a sparkle in his eye. He just had such a particular style.

5 Tips to Battling Depression with Gratitude

1. Keep a gratitude journal.
   Take time each week to journal about what you are grateful for. Choose how many things you will write about (e.g., 3 to 5). One to three times per week is more beneficial than journaling every day.

2. Practice gratitude meditation.
   Engage in mindfulness meditation in which you reflect on the things you are grateful for. For guidance, use mindfulness apps such as Calm, Headspace, and Happier.

3. Express your gratitude to others.
   Think of someone you are thankful (family member, coworker, friend, teacher, etc.). Write a thank-you note to express your appreciation. Explain what they did and why you are thankful.

4. Take a savouring walk.
   Take a walk outside and pay attention to—and savour—the beauty all around you. Focus on the pleasant sights, sounds, smells, and textures along the way.

5. Use the language of gratitude.
   Get in the habit of using words of gratitude in your everyday language. This would include words such as gifts, blessings, blessed, fortunate, and abundance.
